■ Design Concept

In March 2022, we came together to hold the first in-person Tokyo Marathon in two years, with the slogan "The Day We Unite."

Now, runners, volunteers, spectators and supporters all have their eyes set on the event's next theme, "ONE STEP AHEAD".

This design symbolizes how each and every person enthusiastically advances step by step, in their own unique way.

The Tokyo Marathon is also steadily moving forward to provide people with the joy of running and what lies beyond it.

4. Examples of how the Tokyo Marathon Charity donations are used

[Tokyo Marathon Sports Legacy Program]

Through the four keywords and concepts of "Sports Dream (Enhancement and Education)," "Sports Foundation (Facilities)," "Sports Expansion (Awareness)," and "The Power of Sports (Contributing to Society)," the Tokyo Marathon Foundation Sports Legacy Program aims to create a society in which everyone can enjoy new lifestyles centered around sports, and to pass this society on to future generations. Donations are used for various activities, including the Diamond Athlete Program, a program by the Japan Association of Athletics Federations that seeks to develop and enhance the next generation of athletes, and the Para Athletics Challenge Support "EDORIKU Wheelchair Racing Workshop", organized by Edogawa City, Tokyo. In March 2022, the Sports Legacy Program has introduced new programs, "Athletics Event Continuity Support," "Diverse and Inclusive Societal Development Support," and "Athletes Activity Support." With all these initiatives, the Program continues to offer support for every aspect of sports.

[Ronald McDonald House Charities Japan]

"Ronald McDonald House" supports children with intractable diseases and their families through contributions and the efforts of local volunteers based on the concept of a "comfortable home away from home." We support families "emotionally" and "economically" with a large house that provides private bedrooms, kitchen facilities, a living room, a dining room, laundry facilities and a play room so that families of children undergoing medical treatment can perform daily life activities as they would at home.

3 New Programs Introduced for the Tokyo Marathon 2023 Charity

Ever since its inclusion as a charity program in Tokyo Marathon 2015, the Tokyo Marathon Sports Legacy Program has striven to create a society in which everyone can enjoy new lifestyles centered around sports, and to pass this society on to future generations, led by the four keywords and concepts of "Sports Dream," "Sports Expansion," "Sports Foundation," and "The Power of Sports." We are happy to announce that the following new programs were introduced in 2022.

■ Tokyo Marathon Foundation Sports Legacy Program - Newly Added Programs

• Diverse and Inclusive Societal Development Support (The Power of Sports)

This program, inspired by the Tokyo 2020 Paralympics, aims to support any initiatives that would realize a more accessible, barrier-free society in Tokyo, not only for those who play sports, but for everyone including those who watch and/or support sports.

• Athletics Event Continuity Support (Sports Dream)

This program aims to support the continued operations of athletics events so that all athletes can improve their performance and succeed in the Paris 2024 Olympic & Paralympic Games.

• Athletes Activity Support (The Power of Sports)

This program is not aimed at improving athletes' competitive performance, but instead at enabling athletes to actively contribute to society through sports, and to share these activities with the world. It focuses particularly on children's education, environmental conservation, donating sporting supplies to impoverished areas, and providing support to people with disabilities.

■ Overview of existing programs

[Sports Dream] Training of athletes, fostering of junior athletes and career support

The programs will help provide support for sports workshops, training, and development training for instructors, with the aims of promoting sports, and nurturing and strengthening athletes.

Donation Usage: Diamond Athlete Program, Athletics Event Continuity Support

[Sports Expansion] Support of sporting events and its public awareness promotion

The programs will assist with activities for promoting lifelong sports participation, such as activities for promoting health tailored to individual life stages through the enjoyment of sports and health management.

Donation Usage: Para Athletics Challenge Support
